Damned Nations: Greed, Guns, Armies, and Aid By Samantha Nutt Damned Nations: Greed, Guns, Armies, and Aid By Samantha Nutt In 1995, twenty-five-year-old Samantha Nutt, a recent medical-school graduate and a field volunteer for UNICEF, touched down in Baidoa, Somalia, the "City of Death." What she saw there would spur her on to a lifetime of passionate

Damned Nations: Greed, Guns, Armies, and Aid

Damned Nations: Greed, Guns, Armies, and Aid. Angry, impassioned essays are not the general currency of Canadian non-fiction, so it's refreshing that physician Samantha Nutt breaks the mould with her forthright attack on militarism and misguided aid efforts that exacerbate the poverty and conflict they are meant to solve. The executive director of War Child Canada, a non-governmental organization working with women and children affected by war around the world, Nutt sports a dizzyingly ...
